One must use custom template on the day of preparing presentation to have in depth clarification. The level of the slides differs from the way of delivery. A: Some years ago, I found a developer called LaserSpeak that allows the export of Flash presentations to pretty much any format including HTML5 and PDF. If you are looking for something free, but not free to use, try SlidePeek and SlideShare. If you want to go to the source, here is the source code of LaserSpeak. Q: Copy a sheet with a custom column into another file I'm trying to create a macro that copies the whole sheet from workbook 2 (purchases) into workbook 1 (invoices). The only issue is that the formulas in column K have to stay the same as in the source file. My code is not working the way I wanted, although it looks pretty much the same as all the stuff I've seen. If I uncomment the last two lines then it works fine but it is lacking the part that keeps the formulas in place. Any ideas? Sub fetch_wkbk_2() Dim wkbk_2_sheet_name As String Dim wkbk_2_sheet_location As String wkbk_2_sheet_name = "purchases.xlsx" wkbk_2_sheet_location = "purchases.xlsm" Sheets(1).Copy Sheets(2).Name:=wkbk_2_sheet_name 'Sheets("invoice_prices").Copy Sheets(2).Name:=wkbk_2_sheet_name Sheets(1).Range("K1").Value = Sheets(2).Range("K1").Value Sheets("invoice_prices").Range("K1").Select Sheets(1).Range("A1").Select Selection.Copy Sheets(2).Range("K1").Select ActiveSheet.Paste Sheets("invoice_prices").Range("K1:K" & Range("A1").End
