Adobe Photoshop is $499 for the student version, $899 for the Standard version, and $2,000 for the Premium version. You can also get a trial version of Photoshop that enables you to keep practicing for 30 days. ## InDesign Adobe InDesign ($499) is the industry standard for page layout. It offers several types of page templates, including some that are created with bleed edges, and professional layouts for various graphic products, such as magazines, web sites, and corporate brochures. It has been around for a long time and has the reputation for being a professional page design program. Even though it is designed for creating pages, InDesign can be used for many other aspects of page design, including creating brochures, logos, merchandise, newsletters, and many other types of marketing and promotional materials. Like Photoshop, it has its own layer-based editing system. InDesign does not use a rollover effect like Photoshop. Instead, each object has its own different type of animation that makes objects look as if they are made of layers on top of one another. These type of effects are called Smart Objects in InDesign. With InDesign you can animate each layer individually. The latest version of InDesign, CS4, is a very powerful program. As with Photoshop, this program offers a trial version for 30 days. ## QuarkXpress QuarkXPress ($299) is more of a desktop publishing application than a traditional page layout program. It offers a variety of templates and designs as well as layout automation for creating print products, including company newsletters and advertisements. Like InDesign, it offers lots of capability for page layout, but it lacks the freeform editing and vector-based layouts that InDesign can produce. QuarkXPress's design templates can be searched to find one that is similar to the creative file you have in mind. QuarkXPress offers a 30-day trial version. QuarkXPress offers a wide variety of graphic files, from clip art to Photoshop files. The interface is designed for mouse use with a left-hand navigation system. ## Fireworks

Adobe Fireworks ($299) is the newest addition to Adobe's Creative Suite family of products. Fireworks was designed to be a web-design and page layout program. Fireworks is designed to work with Flash and Java, so it can be used on the web as well.

Photoshop Elements hasn't improved its cost, so even though it contains all the features of Photoshop, it is more expensive than Photoshop. An alternative to Photoshop Elements is PSE (Photoshop Express).

Perhaps the worst part of spring break is the prospect of returning to a job that's mandatory — or, worse, much like spring break in the paper-pushing sense of the term. We've all been there. But the question is, does anyone know how to get out?
Several job search gurus have found the key to springing yourself out of a difficult job — you need to make it easy on yourself. “The reason people don't always give up is because they think of it as a trade: If I'm going to get up at 7 a.m., I have to get up at 7 a.m., and so I go through this mental gymnastics to convince myself that it's a fair trade — it's not fair for me to get up at 7 a.m.” It's hard to want to get up at a reasonable hour if you've just been working 24 hours a day (not that we're judging) and the prospect of getting up at a reasonable hour may sound like a cruel and unusual punishment. But setting a new bar in your life is a great way to kick your job search into high gear. Making it easy on yourself Searching for a

Related Coverage State Department spokesman Matt Tueller said Saturday that U.S. officials are meeting with U.S. allies in Saudi Arabia who have previously expressed concerns about the air campaign targeting the Houthis. Saudi and coalition spokesman Colonel Turki Al-Malki rejected those assertions Saturday, with Al-Malki calling the statement “false.” At the press conference, Hauser warned that if the United States were to lift its hold on the sale of U.S. arms to Saudi Arabia, the Middle East would be made more unstable. “This is a deep pool of money to the Middle East in terms of instability and terrorism and violence,” Hauser said. “And if you’re a terrorist or a fundamentalist or if you’re an outlaw — I mean, you’re part of a criminal enterprise. You’re not a citizen of the United States. There are very clear financial penalties for being involved in this, but the U.S. is selling money and weapons into a place where there is conflict.” Hauser pointed out that the Houthis control large swaths of land and deny basic services, and that the Saudi-led coalition has killed thousands of civilians. “We’re selling weapons to a society that is essentially run by a criminal enterprise and they’re killing thousands of people,” he said.

“And we’re selling to this, the Saudis sell to this.

They’re not going to build international mosques or things like that.”
